

HARRIET COSCIA

Ms. Harriet Coscia is an Elementary School Teacher with close to 30 years of classroom experience. She received her Bachelor's of Arts in Elementary Education from Adelphi University and soon after received a Master's Degree in Early Childhood Education, followed by a second Master's Degree in Guidance and Counseling- both from Lehman College. Throughout her career, Harriet has focused on creating a learning experience based on meaningful connections, purpose, challenge, and student-centered engagement.

She believes that true learning begins with understanding, reflection and curiosity. She encourages her students to go deeper in their work, to always believe in themselves, and to make connections that are of relevance to their lives. By doing so, she fosters a true sense of independence and ownership in her students as they move forward towards their academic and personal goals.

Outside of teaching, Harriet enjoys taking walks, reading a historical novel with one of her cats wrapped in her lap, or simply getting lost in a puzzle!
