

VJOSANA JAHELEZI

Vjosana Jahelezi is a caring and dedicated Pre-K educator with extensive experience supporting young children's early learning and development. She currently works as a Teacher's Aide at the Greek American Institute in the Bronx, assisting in daily classroom activities for a class of 15+ preschool students and supporting individualized learning in literacy, numeracy, and fine motor skills. She also collaborates closely with parents and educational teams to foster a safe, structured, and engaging classroom environment.

Previously, she has worked as a Behavioral Technician, where she collected and recorded behavioral data, collaborated with families and therapists, and maintained detailed progress documentation. Early in her career, she was a Daycare Assistant in Tirana, Albania, supervising young children, promoting positive social interactions, and monitoring developmental progress.

As a mother of three, Vjosana brings patience, understanding, and a strong appreciation for each child's unique needs. She believes in learning through play, positive reinforcement, and close collaboration with families to help every child build a strong foundation for future success. In her free time, she enjoys staying active, exploring family-friendly activities, and learning new strategies to support child development.

A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE
