

ANTHONY MIKOLINACZ

Mr. Anthony Mikolinacz is a dedicated educator currently serving as a 5th-grade General Education teacher and 6th-grade English Language Arts instructor. With over five years of classroom experience and an additional six years of tutoring before entering the field, he brings a strong foundation in both instruction and individualized student support.

Mr. Mikolinacz earned his Bachelor's Degree in Literature from Lehman College and his Master's Degree in Childhood Education from Fordham University.

His teaching philosophy centers on fostering a balanced classroom environment—one that nurtures each student's unique learning style while maintaining structure, rigor, and high academic expectations. He believes that literacy—both in Mathematics and English Language Arts—is a cornerstone of lifelong success and strives to cultivate these skills in every student he teaches.

Outside the classroom, Mr. Mikolinacz enjoys reading, creative writing, and video editing.
