

STAVROS KILIMITZOGLU

Stavros Kilimitzoglou is a dedicated and passionate educator with 27 years of experience teaching Social Studies. He is New York State Certified and earned both his Bachelor's and Master's degrees in History and Education from Hofstra University. Throughout his career, he has become widely respected for his engaging teaching style and deep knowledge of history, which he brings to life in the classroom with remarkable energy and enthusiasm.

Stavros firmly believes that history is not just about dates and events, but about the stories, people, and lessons that shape our world—and he strives every day to make that understanding accessible and exciting for his students. His commitment to education goes far beyond textbooks; he creates immersive, thought-provoking lessons that encourage students to think critically, connect the past to the present, and develop a genuine appreciation for the subject.

Known for his willingness to go the extra mile, Stavros provides unwavering support to help his students succeed both academically and personally. Whether through one-on-one mentoring, creative projects, or dynamic discussions, he ensures that every learner feels valued and inspired. His passion for history and his dedication to student growth have made him not only a beloved teacher but also a lasting influence in the lives of many young learners.
